Fay Still Faces Extortion Penalty

Acquitted of Federal income tax evasion charges, Joseph S. Fay, racketeering AFL union boss, today still faced 8½ to 16 years in New York State's prison for extorting $180,000 from contractors on the Delaware Water Project.

Feted at a number of bar-and-grill parties as a "hero," following the jury's verdict in Newark Federal Court last night, Fay expressed confidence that he would again "beat the rap" when his extortion conviction is ruled upon by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Two women on the jury which acquitted Joseph S. Fay, convicted AFL labor racketeer, of income tax evasion charges were revealed today as relatives of city employees in the domain of the Hague political machine.

Their affiliations were discovered after another juror in the Newark Federal Court trial was ousted when it was learned that, until three months ago, he had been a member of Fay's Operating Engineer's Union.

SAVED FAY.

The women jurors in question are Mrs. Anne Marie Daly of 11½ Duncan ave., Jersey City and Miss Catherine Connelly, of 258 Prospect ave., Bayonne.

They joined with nine others in snatching Fay from the shadow of 15 years in prison as an income tax cheat.

Mrs. Daly is the wife of George J. Daly, a real estate broker who works on a per diem basis for Jersey City, appraising railroad, waterfront and other properties for the city's Bureau of Taxation.

HOLDS HOUSING POST.

Daly is also chairman of the Jersey City Housing Authority which is under the jurisdiction of the Federal Housing Administration, a job reported to be non-salaried.

Miss Donnelly is a sister of Fire Department Capt. William Donnelly in Bayonne, where the politics are controlled by Bert Daly, a close ally of Mayor
